RECITALS

1. Intimate partner violence accounts for approximately one in four homicides in Oregon and 45% of all homicides among females. Overall, more than 85,000 Oregon women reported having been physically or sexually assaulted by an intimate or recently intimate partner in the past five years. Teen dating violence impacts 1 in 4 your adults nationally and this statistic has been demonstrated to exist locally in survey data collected by SUBSUBRECIPIENT. The trauma also extends to children who witness domestic violence, a population that the Children's Center (CC) and partner agencies have collaboratively worked to provide services to through the Child Witness pilot project. It is anticipated that the number of children referred from these concerns will increase from fewer than fifty each year to several hundred annually, requiring additional evaluation and advocacy resources for both agencies.
2. Justice Reinvestment Act Funds (JRA) will be used to support core services at Children's Center (CC) and targeted capacity expansion through an investment in innovative and trauma-informed community-based victim services organizations. JRA funds will position Children's Center to accommodate expansion expected as a result of increased awareness from the creation of a multi-disciplinary pilot project designed to increase referral for CC services for children who witness domestic violence-a population that has been dramatically underserved.
3. Children's Center is well-positioned to provide services for a growing number of child abuse and child witness to domestic violence victims through the organizations' employment of trauma-informed practices including highly trained medical personnel, clinicians and a voluntary service models that research has demonstrated are more likely to result in victims engaging in the criminal justice system, achieving short and long term safety and self-sufficiency goals, and reduced re-victimization.

4. Children's Center's trauma-informed approach is anchored by a single medical and forensic evaluation observed by law enforcement and child protective service employees that thereby minimizes the number of times and threatening environments a child is required to tell their story. It includes counseling and other referrals for non-offending caregivers to bolster the healing process for the child and empower the family toward restoration. CC received national accreditation this year through the National Children's Alliance, after meeting all 10 research-based standards for trauma-informed child abuse intervention.
5. Funding will support a 0.8 FTE Children's Center Medical Examiner. The examiner will provide medical evaluations for suspected victims of child abuse and neglect. The examiner is required to hold a medical degree or a family or pediatric nurse practitioner degree, as well as 40 hours of training specifically in the area of child abuse evaluation. The examiner will conduct head to toe medical exams, will consult with other physicians when needed, will review medical records of children who are referred for services, will testify in court cases that follow medical evaluation and will stay current on best practices. The examiner will serve children who are referred for concerns of abuse or neglect, including children who have witnessed domestic violence. Administration allocation is set at a standard 10%.
